

Truffle Hunting in the Rhône Valley

Friday 17th - Monday 20th February 2017

Louis-Pascal and Paul-Henri Bouchard are once again inviting a small group of Partners on a very special weekend at Domaine des Grands Devers, hunting the elusive black truffle! As well as learning how to find them and how to cook with them, the weekend includes a visit to the largest truffle market in Provence and a tasting of the Bouchard's wines over a fabulous truffle themed dinner at the domaine. We also visit Christine and Eric Saurel at Montirius – our fascinating biodynamic vineyard that produces our exclusive Gigondas and Vacqueyras wines. We then dine with them at the fabulous Château de Rochegude.

Our Côtes du Rhône vineyard is situated high in the hills in the northern extremes of the Côtes du Rhône, surrounded by vines, pine trees and truffle oaks. Nowhere boasts a more interesting range of grape varietals than the southern Rhône. The flagship appellation is, of course, Châteauneuf-du-Pape, yet some of the best value wine is sold under the Côtes du Rhône-Villages label and the Bouchard brothers - from the eponymous, historic and famous Bouchard Merchants in Burgundy – make some of the best!
